

Perspectives on True Palliative Care Webinar

June 11, 2019

1:00- 2:30 p.m.

Description: Home health agencies will gain a better understanding of the palliative care model of care, how palliative care can decrease overall healthcare expenditures across the continuum of care and improve population health management.

Timothy G. Ihrig, M.D., M.A.

Timothy G. Ihrig, M.D., M.A. is Chief Medical Officer of Crossroads Hospice and Palliative Care. He also is founder and Chief Executive Officer of Ihrig MD & Associates. Dr. Ihrig is a palliative care physician. He cares for the most vulnerable and sick individuals. He creates and leads health systems and teams through change that care for the most seriously ill people. He is internationally recognized for combining clinical and administrative experience in creating health and social care systems that reliably deliver high-value outcomes in a financially sustainable manner for seriously ill populations. His expertise is understanding risk as applied to healthcare systems, payers and providers, its effect on micro- and macro-economics, population health, regulatory compliance and their interactions. The fundamental principle of combining his visionary approach to care delivery through a unique philosophical perspective and implementing them via defined pathways enhance whole-person, relationship-based care. This has led to unparalleled success in across-the-continuum population health and community based care program development and innovation.

Objectives:

1. Define the scope and role of palliative care for individuals with serious illnesses.
2. Discuss the palliative care model of care.
3. Illustrate how the palliative care model of care decreases overall healthcare expenditures across the continuum of care and improves population health management.
